NUMBER 1

The assembly has done a good thing in passing the bill to pay members of security boards three dollars per day.

Mrs. Frank Leslie, the well known publisher, says she is too full of business to marry. She was engaged to a count two years, but she thought better of it. The past tells us that a woman who marries a "count" throws her life away.

Dr. Burchard has been retired as postmaster on a salary of $500 a year, on account of age. If he had been retired a year ago, it would have been a blessing to the country as the republican party would then have been in power.

President Cleveland is astonishing Washington society by adopting the rule of having breakfast at 8, dinner at 1, and supper at 6. He proposes to have three square meals a day regardless of cost, and to begin work at 9 o'clock in the morning.

Another invention has been made for the benefit of the codfish aristocracy. It is an electric scarf-pin which can be illuminated to great brilliancy, surpassing even the diamond. It costs only seven dollars battery and all, and with one charge will sparkle brilliantly for three days. Thus has modern science made it possible for hotel clerks, bar tenders, waiters, skating rink instructors and editors to have their shirts fronts outshine those adorned with the most costly diamonds.

With the great wish for office from Missouri comes P. G. O'Brien. He furnished a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe Democrat the following autographed sketch of himself the other day: "Parents came to a meeting from Virginia in the year of 1815. I was born in Jeff city in the year of 1838 and have been connected with the legislature in different positions on the door keepers staff for twenty-five years have been. A life long democrat alway vote the democratic ticket straight and if there is a yellow dog or a Conchoco indiu on the bottom of the ticket I vot for them two and am called the yellow dog democrat of Cole county."

A gentleman in Milwaukee advertises or a servant girl in this fashion:

GILL WANTED—ONE WHO KNOWS HOW TO COOK AND HAS ENOUGH TO GET IN MONEY TO EAT. I WANT A BOY TO HELP ME TO SERVE A BUCKWHEAT PANCAKE WITHOUT BEING OVERDOED WITH SALT, AND WELL RECOMMENDED. IT WILL BE A GREAT BLESSING TO ME. NO ONE NEED ROLL THE FRONT DOOR BELL FOR ADMISSION UNLESS FULLY UP TO THE REQUIREMENTS ABOVE SPECIFIED.

It is pretty safe to say that this plain language will not cause a rust for the front door bell at 548 Milwaukee street. By the way, experience in the larger cities reveal the fact that at no previous time have the numbers of competent servant girls been so short of the demand as at present. With all the burden of business depression, labor of that kind is remarkably scarce and it seems that the supply is constantly decreasing while the demand is on the increase. The explanation probably is that mills and factories have more of an inviting influence for working girls than the constant, monotonous and uninteresting work in a kitchen.

THE COMPROMISE LICENSE. The republican caucus committee to which the liquor license question was referred will make a report to-night, to the full caucus, favoring a compromise measure. It will fix the minimum license fee at $200 in cities and villages of more than 500 in habitants, and at $100 in towns where there are no villages and others; the uniform max min rate of $200 is proposed and the question of a license higher than the minimum is to be decided by the popular vote. The committee consists of Senators Kidd and Minor and Assemblymen Fairchild and Young.

The practical effect of this measure will be to make the license $200 in all the larger cities of the state, unless the sentiment for high license is so strong that the people vote to make it $300. This is a compromise that will not give us judge, very general satisfaction, and yet it is said to be the only measure of the kind that has a likelihood of passing the legislature. In the judgment of the caucus committee it was better than nothing.

MR. VILAS DECLINES.

Mr. L. M. Vilas, of Eau Claire, who was called by the State bar association to be an independent candidate for the position of associate justice of the supreme court, has declined to accept the call.

It is to the credit of Mr. Vilas that he did not wish to enter into a spiritual contest for the place. Had Judge Taylor declined the independent call, which in part was published in the Gazette the other day, Mr. Vilas would probably have consented to become a candidate. In one part of his declination, he says: "Professional learning, practical experience, great capability of labor, sincere honesty of thought and purpose, and fearlessness in conviction are not only to be demanded of the incumbent, but his usefulness must require a generous popular confidence, and the mutual respect and support of the bar." Not being able to obtain the support of the bar except in some places the democratic portion of it, he wisely decided that he could not be a candidate.

The people throughout the state who desire to keep the judiciary out of political mud, will honor Mr. Vilas for the many course he has taken.

THE RUSH FOR OFFICE.

The hunger and thirst of the democratic party for the spoils of office is without a parallel in the history of this government. For twenty-four years that party has been on a sharp hunt for office. Its appetite became ravenous, and when at last it succeeded in reducing the republican fortifications and seizing the government, the rush for office was in keeping with the clamor for power.

On the authority of a democratic paper, the Philadelphia Times, the rush is not confined to the democrats who have not been in public life, but the list of ex-congressmen and ex-senators who want office is formidable. Mr. Cleveland's lot will be a hard one, if he undertakes to satisfy the capacity of these hungry persons.

Having a taste for office and more knowledge as to the methods of seeking, they naturally have a much greater capacity for making nuisances of themselves than other members of their class.

Postmaster General Vilas has some experiences that perfectly shocks his modesty. The usual force in his department can not keep up the work of simply filing applications for office, and has been compelled to put on extra force for this purpose.

ABOUT CITY POLITICS.

The democrats are doing some quiet work for the April election and have their eyes on their men from whom a selection will be made for mayor. They are named in this order—the Hon. John Winaus, Dr. J. W. St. John, and Mr. B. Doe. There seems to be a determined purpose among one democratic friends to run Mr. Winaus. Whether he is willing to take so small a thing as the mayoralty, after a term in congress, is definitely known. Should he be permanently declined, and his purpose can not be changed, then an appeal will be made to Dr. St. John or Mr. Doe.

The gentlemen named are among the strongest in the democratic party of Janesville; and the duty of the republicans is plain—to match them. They can do this. They have just as strong men as the democrats, and even stronger, because if the right republican is nominated he will be elected. This question is one of some importance and will demand very careful and sober thought on the part of the republicans, and good work on the part of the city council. It should move cautiously, and wisely and make no mistakes.

The more discreet of the democratic leaders are quietly talking over the aldermanic question, with the view of placing in nomination some of the best representative business element in their party. This is quite commendable on the part of our democratic friends, and any action taken in their direction should be also "matched" by the republicans. They can do this, for they have the material in every ward, and under no circumstances should fail to draw it out.

This is the way to make the municipal government strong and respectable in all its branches. It guarantees solid, capable and right-minded men no matter which way the election should happen to turn.

CONGRESSIONAL APPROPRIATIONS.

The first session of the Forty-eighth congress made appropriations for the fiscal year 1881-5, as follows:

Pensions.....$20,820,000

Military Academy.....311,563

Coastal and diplomatic.....1,216,394

Naval.....10,012,041

Post Office.....5,580,402

Indian.....10,489,341

Legislative, etc.....1,000,743

District of Columbia.....7,047,508

Deficiencies.....

Added to this was $24,635,000 for fortification, the army, and the agricultural department, making total appropriations a little over $164,230,000. The last session of congress passed thirteen general appropriation bills as follows:

Pensions.....$6,990,000

Military Academy.....1,317,322

Naval.....14,815,472

Post Office.....30,494,914

Legislative, etc.....2,671,871

Sundry civil.....25,711,742

District of Columbia.....5,010,322

To these must be added the three bills for the maintenance of the fortification, the army, and the agricultural department, and the support of the army, making the general appropriations for 1881-5 some what over $214,000,000.

It will be seen that there is no river and harbor appropriations in the foregoing list. Happily, the bill was talked to death, and although it took much time to do it, the time was well spent. It was cheaper to talk the bill to death than to pass it, and squander the money on the river and harbors. It would have been a little more statesmanlike, however, if the bill had been killed in due form.

ONE MAN IN A CENTURY.

Joe Goss the Pugilist, Eulogies the Boston Infant. Old Joe Goss, the hero of a hundred battles, lies at the point of death. He does not apprehend his danger, and was found by a reporter propped up with pillows and wearing a brilliant but impenetrable shirt front, which testified to the sincerity of his expressed belief that later in the day he would be able to walk out. In the course of his conversation with the reporter he said that he had no friends in the world, and the way he had been treated by the pugilists is outrageous. I brought him out, or helped to, and remember when he staggered me under the eye at the exhibition at Madison Hall. But I did not expect it was in trim, and up to now, John Goss has not been so bad. John Goss is to go no last Saturday. I never liked those four-round-fights with gloves. They don't amount to much, but Sullivan can do any tighter, even with them. All the Macs in the world, and those I have seen in my day are that (snapping his fingers to him). Sullivan has not been treated right in many ways, and I hope the people will get to know him better and appreciate him.

The funeral of the late James A. Webb will be held at the Congregational church at three o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

The family of County Clerk Webb have removed from Evansville to this city, and taken possession of the Webster house on Wisconsin street, third ward.

Superintendent Ward is making quite a hole in the old Milwaukee street bridge. The work is now progressing very slowly owing to the non-arrival of the heavy timber. Mr. Ward says it will take about two weeks to complete the bridge after all the timber arrives.

Mr. James Galbraith, of Galbraith Bros., this city, arrived in Boston from Glasgow, on Saturday, with fifteen Clyde horses, and will reach this city on Saturday. They will come on a horse-car.

The Odd Fellows will give another of their popular special invitation parties at Apollo hall, on Saturday evening of this week. Music by Anderson's orchestra. None but Odd Fellows admitted except those having an invitation card.

A stranger narrowly escaped being run over by the west side trolley this morning. He was in the street in front of MacKey Bros' store when the engine turned the corner at full speed, and in attempting to get out of the way he fell to the ground, the wheels barely missing his body.

Miss Christine Peterson will sing one or two selections with viola obbligato by Miss Gertrude Wheeler, at Mr. Dahl's concert this evening. She has assisted at a number of concerts this winter and always been appreciated for the beautiful tones she produces, and her excellent method in this art.

The Grand Army will entertain the people three evenings this week at Miner's hall with the play "Bank and File" and it is expected they will get a good patronage.

It is reported that we are to have a new train in stock buying, consisting of Mr. C. Tuttle, Elmer Bellard and W. Hubbard. The men are old citizens but whether the firm will remain or not is question.

What They do in New Orleans now a-day.

The great crowds in New Orleans, at the Exposition, liberally contributed to the audience present at the 17th Grand Monthly Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, on Tuesday, Feb. 10th. The sum of $255,500 was fairly placed by the hand of fortune where it probably will do the most good. As sample bricks, how the goddess treats her votaries, we note that Ticket No. 28,600 drew the First Capital Prize of $75,000, and was sold as a whole to a resident of San Francisco, California, and collected through the Nevada Bank of that city. Ticket No. 28,414 drew the Second Capital Prize of $20,000, and was sold to a party in New Orleans, visiting the Exposition. Ticket No. 1,730 drew the Third Capital Prize of $10,000, and was sold in littles, one to Reuben Joel, 62 Monroe St., Lynn, Mass.; another collected through the First National bank of Birmingham, Birmingham, Pa., Nos. 70,920 and 28,476, drew each $8,000, and were held in New Orleans and Cincinnati, O., &c., &c. The whole ticket will be reported again on April 14, next, of which M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., will give all information on application.
